President's Message

Hi Everyone,

It is with great pleasure that I would like to welcome you all to the 4th National Tenterfield Terrier Championship Show.

The Tenterfield Terrier Club of Queensland would like to extend a very warm welcome to all exhibitors and their families especially our interstate visitors, thank you for travelling to our great State to support the National Show, it is a great honour and a milestone in our clubs history to host this fantastic show.

We will be having our Presentation Lunch tomorrow so that we are refreshed and we get to enjoy a less formal get together to catch up with old friends and meet new people from around Australia.

Thank you to our committee for all the hard work they have done to make this show a success, a lot of blood, sweat and tears has gone into the fundraising and organisation of this Show.

The Committee has decided on a "Trophy" theme this year to give winners a wonderful memento of their dogs achievements.

We would like to thank Advance our Major Sponsor for the show aswell as Atenta Tenterfields who have generously sponsored the medallions for all our Classes.

A big thank you to all our sponsors and people who have made donations towards the show, without your support these shows would not be possible and we appreciate every cent donated whether big or small.

A big welcome and thanks to our judges, Ms Clara Ines Pulido Reyes and Mrs Marilyn Rose.

I would also like to thank our steward, Joy Lanham, writer, Margaret Alderton and show manager, Helen Acworth for working with us today.

I hope everyone has enjoyable time and wish you all a safe journey home.

I would also like to mention that Victoria has offered to host the next National Show and we would like to take this opportunity to wish them all the very best.

Good luck to all exhibitors and have a wonderful day.

History of the Tenterfield Terrier

Background

The Tenterfield Terrier originated in England. Huntsmen used Terriers derived from the Old English White Terrier.

These came in a wide variety of shapes and sizes as well as in a variety of coat types – from quite smooth through to rough or wire-haired.

Two centuries ago when the various different terrier types began to emerge, there were no formal registration records. Terriers of various sizes were born in the same litter. Any dog that performed a particular task well was mated to another adept in that task. It did not seem to matter what the terrier looked like as long as it did the required job.

As a result, terriers who specialized in killing rats came into existence. Rats carried disease for both dog and man and were a health threat to both country and city communities in those days before insecticides. Rattling terriers had to be quick and agile so they killed the rat before getting bitten, therefore they were usually small in stature as well as very athletic. They were usually smooth coated because the filth that the rats lived in would have got caked in a long or rough coat.

Early sailing ships that came to Australia with our first settlers carried these small rattling terriers to kill the rats and mice on board. When the ship docked, many of these dogs were left behind to kill the rats and other vermin that escaped from the ships and ran rampant in our pristine countryside. The next two hundred years would see these little dogs established in Australia both as a rattling terrier and a family companion. They became known as the "Miniature Fox Terrier".

There was hardly a farm in Australia that didn't have at least one of these terriers. There was never a reason for any of these people to develop a breed registry for their beloved breed.

Below is a photo taken in the late 1800s of a police party searching for missing drovers. In the front of the photo is a Tenterfield Terrier.

This police party travelled from Coolgardie to Halls Creek to search for drovers missing near the Canning stock route.

It is believed these terriers were bred quite extensively in and around northern New South Wales. A known large breeder of this terrier was George Woolnough, the Tenterfield Saddler (Peter Allen's grandfather). We have letters written from elderly Tenterfield residents telling us of how George loved his little terriers and owned "an awful lot".

In the early 1990's a group of interested owners, who wanted to secure the future of this terrier, advertised for interested persons to attend their first meeting. This meeting led to the formation of the Miniature Fox Terrier Club of SA. A similar club had been running in New South Wales for some time prior to this. A club was then formed in WA and the breed registry was established soon after, with the first entries being January 1991.

In 1992 it became quite apparent that if we were to eventually have this wonderful little dog recognised by the ANKC, the name of "Miniature Fox Terrier" was extremely inappropriate as the terrier was not a miniaturisation of the Fox Terrier.

We, as a club, could understand this valid point.

After consultation with all club members, moves were then made through SA, WA and NSW to instigate a name change for the breed.

Numerous ideas were put forward which resulted in a ballot to all members of the SA, WA and NSW Clubs. After much publicity via the media, it was strongly voted (some 85% of returned votes) to embrace the name "Tenterfield Terrier".

The Tenterfield Terrier is now a recognised breed (since 2002) and is being shown In Group 2, the Terrier Group.

The state flag of Queensland is a British Blue Ensign defaced with the state badge on a white disc in the fly. The badge is a light blue Maltese Cross with an imperial crown in the centre of the cross. The flag dates from 1876, with minor variations, and the badge was designed by William Hemmant, the Colonial Secretary and Treasurer of Queensland in 1876.

Tenterfield Terrier

Breed Standard

- Group: Group 2 (Terriers)
- General Appearance: The Tenterfield Terrier is a strong, active, agile working terrier of great versatility and of pleasing proportion. The measurement of wither to ground and wither to rear point of buttock should be of equal proportions. The length of the head and neck should always be in balance to the whole of the dog. The coat is always smooth.
- Characteristics: A keen, intelligent and alert expression which is denoted by the carriage of the ears and erect tail. Temperament: Confident, with an eagerness to learn, showing great loyalty to its owner and although fearless and bold at work, he is an ideal companion dog in the home.
- Head And Skull: Medium sized head in proportion to body. The head is only slightly rounded from ear to ear. Domed or apple heads are highly undesirable. When viewed from the front and side, head is to be wedge shaped and well filled in under the eyes. The stop to be moderate and when measured from that point to occiput it equals the distance from the stop to the tip of the nose with parallel planes. The colour of the nose is preferably black, with the exception of liver which will have a liver nose. There should be strength in the muzzle.
- Eyes: Not large, protruding or round, but slightly oval in shape. Dark preferred but may bear some relation to coat colour, with pigmented eye rims and a keen expression. Wall eyes are to be discouraged.

Ears:	V shaped with slightly rounded tips, set high on the outer edge of the skull, erect or semi-erect. If semi-erect the top third of the ear tips forward. Not wide or large at the base, rather medium in size. The length of the ear to be roughly equal to the width between the ears. The ears are of a thin texture (not thick).
Mouth:	Strong jaws with full dentition and complete scissor bite, i.e. upper teeth closely overlapping the lower teeth. Lips to be tight fitting and pigmented. A wry mouth should be heavily penalised.
Neck:	Strong and clean of moderate length, allowing head to be carried proudly.
Body:	A short, compact, level topline. A strong back without slackness and with powerful loins. Ribs moderately sprung, back ribs deep and reaching well back with only a slight tuck up. The chest is of moderate width and reaching in depth to the level of the elbow, but not below.
Hindquarters:	Not too heavily muscled. The rump is well rounded with only a slight slope to the croup. Long and powerful thighs. The stifle is well bent and the hocks well let down. The pastern should be parallel when viewed from the rear, and vertical when viewed from the side.
Feet:	Compact, round shaped, toes moderately arched.
Tail:	Traditionally Docked.
Undocked:	Tails can be of varying lengths. Bob tails often occur. High set and erect when alert. Carried gaily, showing bold temperament.
Gait/Movement:	Fore and hind legs carried straight forward and parallel. The elbows to move perpendicular to the body, working clear of the sides, stifles neither turning in nor out and the hocks not close, with good rear drive coming from the well flexing hindquarters.
Coat:	To be short and of smooth texture. The Tenterfield Terrier is a single coated dog.
Colour:	Predominantly white coat with black, tan, blue or liver markings of any shade. Tri colouring is common (i.e., white with black or white with blue or white with liver markings and tan cheeks and/or tan above eyes and/or tan breeches). Brindle markings acceptable but not preferred. Full colour coats are not acceptable. Skin should always be pigmented.
Sizes:	The height to be 25.5 to 30.5cms (10 to 12 ins) with ideal being 28cms (11 ins) but not exceeding 30.5cms (12 ins). The weight to be in proportion to the size of the dog.
Faults:	Any departure from the foregoing points should be considered a fault and the seriousness with which the fault should be regarded should be in exact proportion to its degree and its effect upon the health and welfare of the dog. Any weakness in the following should be particularly penalised.
Notes:	Males animals should have two apparently normal testicles fully descended into the scrotum.
